7. Confirmation of authority for appointed representative

I, a member, widow/widower or surviving dependant of a member of the NOW: Pensions Trust ('the Scheme'), hereby authorise the above named person to act as my appointed representative in respect of any complaints outlined as part of this internal dispute resolution procedure (IDRP).

This authorisation permits my appointed representative to take all actions necessary on my behalf in relation to this IDRP. This includes obtaining and receiving relevant information, entering into settlements and taking any relevant actions in order to resolve the dispute. I understand that I will be bound by any actions or instructions given by my appointed representative in relation to this IDRP.

In addition, I give my specific consent to NOW: Pensions to disclose to my appointed representative:

- any and all information requested by the appointed representative;
- any and all information regarding my relationship with the Scheme; and
- any and all information NOW: Pensions deems relevant to the dispute, past or present.

I understand that any information provided to my appointed representative may be sensitive information and include personal information, such as my pension contributions, employment details and earnings.

My appointed representative will act on my behalf until I cancel this authorisation by written confirmation or until 12 months has passed since I signed this authorisation, whichever event occurs first.
